Michael Osorio
John Spicer
Sam Pelton

"The Book of Mark"

Description:

"The Book of Mark," is a review site for experiences. It is a way for someone to see if trying something new would interest him or her. For example, Mark (the namesake of this site) once climbed Mt. Kilimanjaro. He could review this experience so others could see if it is something they would also like to do. Our idea is for all different kinds of experiences, whether they be travel, sports, or anything in life, to be included on this site. Now people will know what new and exciting adventures await them in the future.

Core Features:
- User Interface:
    - Signup/Login
    - Account Page
    - Ability to Review Existing Experiences
    - Ability to Upvote Experience
- Review System:
    - Rating system for users to leave a simple rating for an experience
    - In depth review section for users to write about the experience
    - Voting can only be done while leaving a review
- Categories:
    - Experiences will be broken down into different categories
    - Each category will display a page with the most highly upvoted experiences in that category

Extras:
- Ability to add Subcategories
    - Categories will be moderator-based
    - Each subcategory will be rated, which will then determine how each subcategory is displayed
- Home Page Functionality
    - Displays the top rated experiences from popular categories
    - Allows you to navigate throughout the page
- Ability to add Experiences
    - Users will be able to decide which category each experience falls under; they will then be able to be reviewed after they are published
    - Users can add a picture to the experience

- ○ Users can link a Wikipedia page, where a selection of text will be displayed for the experience